ABOUT

Ana Quintanas

I am Ana Quintanas, a Brazilian visual artist and painter. I began my journey in painting in 2015 and, since then, I have built my training through courses, experiences with different artists and practice, exploring techniques and possibilities to find my own expression.

I am the daughter of Anilfa Quintanas Morais and Julio Morais. I grew up in a family that, despite a path marked by challenges, always found room to encourage my creativity. That support is part of my story and of who I have become.

My painting has a connection with naturalism, but it also opens up to different languages and styles. I like to explore colors, landscapes and elements that move me, allowing my experiences and my way of seeing to be present in every work.

Today, I share my life with my husband Felipe and our son Benício. Between painting, motherhood and family, I keep building my path, learning and finding new meaning in what I do.

At many moments in my life, when words, paths and even strength failed me, art remained. And perhaps that is why today I have such a strong desire to share it with others.

Thoughts

*I paint what moves me: places,
stories and memories.*

— Ana Quintanas

My work is not tied to a single theme, but there is one thing that connects it all: the way I see Brazil.

It is a study I make to understand light and shadow before applying the colors.

Frida. One of my favorite works. Frida is a synonym for strength and authenticity. She inspires because she turned pain into art, vulnerability into power.

Works

They can be landscapes, cities, houses, nature, simple everyday scenes, colors, contrasts or places that carry history.

BRAZIL

Morro colorido

Houses stacked up the hillside, wires crossing the sky and laundry on the line: everyday life in a Rio de Janeiro community painted with color and respect. Below, a boy walks down the stairs; in the background, the Dois Irmãos peak closes the landscape.

BRAZIL

Rua de pedra

A stone street between white houses with yellow trim, in a colonial townscape that seems to have stopped in time. The cactus, the woods and the blue mountains in the background bring the Brazilian countryside into the scene.

BRAZIL

Praia de Carneiros

A white chapel with green windows on the edge of a turquoise beach, surrounded by coconut palms. The anchored boats and the reflection on the water give the painting the calm of a morning on the Brazilian coast.

BRAZIL

Ipê-amarelo

The yellow ipê in full bloom covers a colonial house with green doors. One of the most Brazilian images there is, painted against a very blue sky.

FLOWERS AND STILL LIVES

Hibiscos

Two open red hibiscus flowers among green leaves. The painting brings the eye so close to the flower it can almost touch it, with attention to the folds of the petals and the pollen.

BRAZIL

Saudade Mora

The blue and white façade of house number 920, with shutters, potted plants and the Portuguese-stone sidewalk in waves. The sunset sky warms the scene and brings out every detail of the architecture.

Technique Oil on canvas Dimensions 90 × 70 cm Year 2026

BRAZIL

Díptico do mar

Two canvases that form a single landscape: the sea seen from above, in dense blues and greens, with foam breaking on the rocks and a small boat making its way. The brushwork is looser and more gestural than in the rest of the collection.

BRAZIL

Cataratas do Iguazu

The Iguazu Falls amid the forest, with the force of the water and the mist rising from the river. A landscape painted up close, surrounded by the green of the rainforest.

PORTRAIT

Retrato

Portrait of a woman with dark curly hair and a direct gaze. The skin, the light and the serene expression show Ana's attention to the human figure.

BRAZIL

Araras-azuis

A pair of hyacinth macaws side by side, their yellow eyes standing out. The intense blue of the feathers and the closeness between the two birds give the painting a tender tone.

Technique Oil on canvas Dimensions 90 × 70 cm

BRAZIL

Largo da igreja

A yellow house with blue windows in front of a white and ochre church, on the square of a historic town. The interplay of colors in the colonial houses is the heart of the composition.

BRAZIL

Casa amarela

A yellow house with stairs, potted plants and foliage in the foreground. A simple everyday scene, bathed in light, the kind we see without really noticing.

FLOWERS AND STILL LIVES

Natureza-morta com frutas

Grapes, figs, peaches, watermelon and a glass on the table, in a still life of warm colors against a dark background. The painting works on the shine, texture and volume of each fruit.

BRAZIL

Cânion

The walls of a canyon covered in forest, seen from afar under a blue sky. The scale of the landscape and the light on the rock show the grandeur of Brazilian nature.

BRAZIL

Araucárias

Araucaria trees on golden hills, with bluish mountain ranges in the background. The tree that symbolizes southern Brazil stands in the foreground, in a warm, open light.

FLOWERS AND STILL LIFES

Rosas brancas

White and pink roses in a gold vase painted with flowers. A delicate still life, with soft light and a warm background.

BRAZIL

Primavera na rua

A stone street between colonial houses, under a bougainvillea in bloom. The red of the flowers contrasts with the white façades and leads the eye up the street.

FLOWERS AND STILL LIFES

Gato na janela

A black cat on the windowsill, looking at the garden, next to a blue vase with flowers. The light coming through the window gives the scene the feel of a quiet afternoon at home.

BRAZIL

Ladeira

A steep stone street between white and yellow houses, with the church tower in the background. The perspective draws the eye upward, like someone walking up through the town.

BRAZIL

Sobrado e charrete

A two-story colonial house with blue windows, a horse-drawn carriage on the stone street and a red bougainvillea on the corner. A scene reminiscent of Brazil's historic towns.

OTHER PLACES

Janela para a Toscana

A wooden window open onto the fields of Tuscany, with cypresses and a path through the vegetation. The window frame invites the viewer to step into the landscape.

OTHER PLACES

Vale verde

A valley of green hills, trees and a red-roofed barn, under a light mist. A peaceful landscape, painted in soft shades of green.

OTHER PLACES

Campo dourado

A golden field with shrubs and woods in the background, bathed in warm light. The painting is built in layers of yellow, green and ochre.

OTHER PLACES

Terraço na Toscana

A terrace with a table, wine and bread overlooking the vineyards of Tuscany, framed by plants and stone. An invitation to sit down and take in the landscape.

OTHER PLACES

Campo de lavanda

Rows of lavender in bloom, with cypresses and a house in the background. The purple of the field and the green of the cypresses make this one of the most colorful paintings in the collection.
